Christopher Columbus was an Italian explorer who lived more than 500 years ago. He was born in a city called Genoa, which is in Italy, around the year 1451. From a young age, Columbus loved the sea and dreamed of traveling to faraway lands. Back then, many people did not know about the continents of North and South America, and explorers like Columbus helped the world learn more about these new places.

Early Life and Dreams of Adventure

As a boy, Columbus didn't have many toys or games like kids do today, but he was fascinated by maps and stories of the ocean. His father was a weaver, but Columbus wanted to be a sailor and explorer. When he grew older, he started working on ships,

The Big Idea: Sailing West to Find Asia

During Columbus's time, people in Europe wanted to find new routes to Asia. Asia was famous for its spices and treasures, but traveling there was long and dangerous.

Getting Help for His Journey

Columbus needed money and ships to make his plan work. He asked the kings and queens of Europe for help. After many tries, Queen Isabella and King Ferdinand of Spain agreed to support him.
